

The Wonderful World of Music

by Alison Weisman

Mr. Zentz & Mrs. Barnett

We have just started a new year in the band and chorus departments! The beginning band and chorus are starting to get the hang of their new instruments and their singing. The intermediate band and chorus are picking up where they left off and are sounding good. The new seventh graders are doing a great job in intermediate.

Even though Mrs. Barnett was here last year as the piano teacher, she is now the chorus teacher too, making the chorus sound excellent. Band has a new teacher as well, Mr. Zentz, and he is a great conductor. Mr. Zentz is sure to make the concerts sound wonderful.

The chorus and band's fall concert will be Thursday, November 20, at 7:30 p.m. in the Pratt Auditorium. The spring show will be on Tuesday, May 18, at 7:30 p.m. in the Pratt Auditorium. Your classmates have been practicing really hard every day for the concerts. Go watch the concerts to show support for your friends!

Girls' Basketball

by Kaitlyn Iselborn

Earlier this school year, there were five days of intense basketball work for the girls of 7th and 8th grade who wanted to be on the girls' basketball team. Many tried out, but only a few could move on, so the girls were scared and excited when it came time to find out who had made the team. The last day of try-outs was definitely a day of stress and excitement.

The twelve girls who made the 7th-grade basketball team are: Kaitlyn Iselborn, Mandy Fatemi, Sarah Akel, Sarah Wilk, Mary Beth Wilk, Leigh Ware, Lizzy Cole, Catherine Barratte, Emma Smith, Taylor Crosby, Sarah Erwin, and Chelsea Jimenez.

The twelve girls who made the 8th-grade basketball team are: Lauren English, Holly Davidson, Jordan Hollis, Nicole Copley, Michele Haugin, Blake Joel, Casey Burke, Rachel Huddleston, Keira Blakely, Lindsey Lynch, Charlotte Holbrook, and Morgan Kenertt.

The 7th and 8th grade coaches have brought great excitement to the basketball players. They are great coaches who have played basketball before. Coach Kelly, the 7th grade coach, and Coach

Milton, the 8th grade coach, are looking forward to winning seasons.

The first game of the season for 7th grade was a loss to Northwestern, even after an incredible comeback by the 7th graders. With three minutes left the 7th grade was down by fourteen points, but they gained ten points, and made the final score 29 to 33.

The 8th graders also lost their first game, but they also tried their hardest to pull up the score as much as they could. The players are trying to forget about their first games and focus on the rest of their season. Come out to the next home game and cheer them on!
