

“You always find things you didn’t know you were going to say, and that is the adventure of writing.”

- John Updike